Structure, governance and management

Description of the charity's trusts

Type of governing document (eg. trust deed, constitution)	The Rules of the Society, adopted on 24 May 1981 and amended from time to time by the Annual Conference, most recently on 2 April 2006
How the charity is constituted (eg. trust, association, company)	Association
Trustee selection methods (eg. appointed by, elected by)	Elected by the Annual Conference, officers annually, others for a 3-year term Musical Advisers (elected to that position by Annual Conference) serve in rotation, one joining and one leaving each year.

Additional governance issues (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant, about: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Policies and procedures adopted for the induction and training of trustees. • The charity's organisational structure and any wider network with which the charity works. • Relationship with any related parties. • Trustees' consideration of major risks and the system and procedures to manage them. 	Trustees are elected in a free election by the Annual Conference after candidates have declared that they are not disqualified from serving as charity trustees. Those elected are sent written information about the roles and responsibilities of trustees. The trustees form the central committee, which meets three times a year. Subcommittees have delegated responsibility for the SRP Walter Bergmann Fund and the National Youth Recorder Orchestras. Other key activities, such as training, editing and the solo recorder competition, are managed by individual trustees. 49 local branches throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland organise meetings for group playing and other activities such as occasional organisation of an annual recorder festival. The mainstream activities of the Society carry only a slight risk of major unexpected expense, adequately covered by the reserves and Public Liability Insurance. A disaster befalling the National Youth Recorder Orchestra could be costly; Public Liability, Employer's Liability and material insurance cover is in place.

Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The education of the public in the study, practice, and appreciation of the art of music and the allied arts and in particular ... the promotion of the education of the public in the study, practice and appreciation of the recorder and its repertoire.

Summary of the main activities in relation to these objects

Branches provide group playing under the direction of local and visiting conductors, also at National Festivals. Training in conducting and other skills is provided through workshops. Young players obtain high-level orchestral experience in the National Youth Recorder Orchestras, can enter the Solo Recorder competition and in cases of need can apply for grants from the SRP Walter Bergmann Fund. Other grants are made from the Arthur Ingram Fund.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- Policy on grantmaking
- Policy programme related investment
- Contribution made by Volunteers

Grants from the SRP Walter Bergmann Fund are made, in cases of need, to recorder players under the age of 30. Other ad-hoc grants are made from the Arthur Ingram Fund.

Almost all activities are undertaken by volunteers. The Administrator of the National Youth Recorder Orchestras receives an honorarium from the Arthur Ingram Fund. Professional musicians in some cases charge per-session fees. All other work is voluntary.

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

The Society continued to promote the recorder as a serious instrument, to facilitate the raising of standards, and provide opportunities for playing to all who join, through group playing in branch meetings at the National Recorder Festival in Cumbria and the Scottish Recorder Festival in Edinburgh, workshops in conducting and other skills throughout the country and joint promotion with Moeck UK of the International Solo Recorder Competition at the Greenwich Early Music Festival..

The National Youth Recorder Orchestras (NYRO) were in their fifth year of existence. Continuing its rotation around the UK, NYRO returned to the London Area with a very successful course in July 2006 at Wellington School, Surrey followed by a concert in The Salvation Army – Regent Hall, London. NYRO also started to plan for other courses and playing days around the country throughout the year.

The Arthur Ingram legacy is accounted separately for identified charitable purposes. It funded the NYRO administrator's honorarium also workshops and made occasional grants to other projects. The SRP Walter Bergmann Fund, administered by a Sub-Committee, continued to give grants to further the studies of young players in financial need. Many members contributed to the fund-raising in various ways. Some grants were given to needy young players in NYRO.

Branches undertook activities in the wider community. Examples included: playing in public places like shopping centres; workshops in primary schools; performances in residential and nursing homes.

The sharing of music has been facilitated by a joint catalogue of music held by branches online at www.srp.org.uk.

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

The main fund maintains a reserve approximately equal to the annual turnover. The SRP Walter Bergmann Fund reserve of about £45K provides investment income for grant-giving. The SRP charitable fund (Arthur Ingram legacy) of about £180K is being used cautiously for new activities in support of charitable objectives.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- The charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising).
- How expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity.
- Investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

The principal source of funds is the member's subscription of £14 to the central fund plus a subscription levied by each branch to fund its own activities. The SRP Walter Bergmann Fund is supported by fundraising. The Arthur Ingram Fund arose from a single legacy. The National Youth Recorder Orchestras, apart from the administrator's honorarium, are now funded by charges to the participants, some of whom obtain charitable grants from the SRP Walter Bergmann Fund or elsewhere.
