

BELPER RECORDERS GROUP PRESENTS

The Times They Are A-Changin'

A RECORDER-PLAYING WORKSHOP

You may think the times are turbulent enough at present in the UK – but this was also true in the 'Golden Age' of the Tudors, when Henry VIII's court led into the Elizabethan era and the dawn of the Protestant church in this country.

Join us to explore the musical changes that mirrored the state's transition; if you'd like to play Tudor music - sing a madrigal - step out a Galliarde or Chaconne, this is the day for you! This will be a fun day but is not suitable for beginner recorder players.

This workshop is organised by the Society of Recorder Players and led by Moira Usher.

Saturday 11 May • 10:30 – 16:30
Cost: £12 (Including tea and coffee)
Please bring a packed lunch and a music stand.

Venue: Strutts Centre, Derby Road,
Belper, Derbyshire DE56 1UU
(Wheelchair access available)

Moira Usher

Moira Usher studied at Trinity College of Music playing cello, recorder and piano and has taught music in schools for a number of years. She now works as an Educational Consultant in local schools and is a qualified Irlen Diagnostician.

Moira teaches on a number of recorder courses across the country including the Recorder Summer School. She is a member of the National SRP Committee. She conducts the Suffolk Branch of the SRP and the Eastern Recorder Orchestra (EROS) and a local community choir.

She arranges both choral and recorder pieces and has had several arrangements published. Moira enjoys music from all periods with a particular interest in modern compositions.
