Guest Conductor ~ Ruth Burbidge

Ruth spent three years at the Royal Academy of Music, studying piano and flute. After several years of teaching, she spent a year studying piano, flute, recorder and harpsichord at Trinity College of Music, where she won the prestigious Raymond Russell Prize for harpsichord and was very involved in the Early Music scene. She has performed many times as a soloist and accompanist, recorder and harpsichord. Her music publishing businesses Peacock Press and Recorder Music Mail are well-known amongst musicians. We look forward to welcoming her to Glasgow.
